Just Like Gold Coin.

For more than fifty years has PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER stood the test against all remedies prepared to eradicate pain, and today stands at the head of the list among the medicines that are so essential to keep at hand in the home.

It is not a new fangle remedy nor do the proprietors lay claim to any wonderful revelation of the ingredients that enter into the manufacture of this ever popular remedy.

It is perfectly harmless, you need have no fear of becoming habitually inclined to its use.

For Colic, Cramps, Dysentery, Colds, and all painful affections, a few doses will certainly give relief. You cannot afford to be without a bottle in the house.

Your forefathers used it and found it beneficial.

Why experiment with some remedy that is new and its effect on the system unknown?

It has many rivals but no equal.

Price 25c. and 50c. a bottle.

SHE STROVE TO PLEASE.

But Her Inconsistent Husband Refused to Be Satisfied After All.

"What's this?" he exclaimed as he scanned the bill. "Who ordered all these dry goods and notions?"

"I did, dear," his wife replied.

"Haven't you clothes enough?"

"Certainly not. You had asked me to go driving with you this afternoon, and I did not desire to be a sight."

It was all said without any great acerbity, but with that unhesitating frankness which shows that the honeymoon has been over for many years.

"Well," he commented, "it seems to me that the women of the present day exert themselves with more industry than sense in their efforts to be beautiful. As they get themselves up now they are simply outlandish."

"Is that intended as a personal remark?"

"Not at all. You are only one of the many. You are not to be expected to step forth and defy these absurd fashions, praiseworthy as such a course would be. You are not the stuff of which martyrs are made. I don't blame you for yielding to the inevitable. I yield myself, but I cannot help sighing for the sweet simplicity of days gone by."

"Perhaps I do not seem as attractive to you now, because I have grown older."

"It isn't that," he protested. "You are more sensible and companionable than ever. But I say, without desiring to hurt your feelings, that you don't dress with the taste that you showed 20 years ago, when we were married."

"I—I do my best."

"Of course you do. As I said before, you can't help it."

"But I am anxious to please you."

"Well, you can please me by being ready early. If we can avoid being late, as usual, I'll not have a word to say. We're always late wherever we go, and I won't have a word to say about how you're dressed, provided only that it's done in a hurry."

That afternoon he sat down in the library to wait till his wife had completed her attire. He lifted his gaze from the paper in response to her inquiry, "How do I look, dear?"

He sprang to his feet and vainly struggled for words. She wore a very small hat, a large chignon and strangely proportioned masses of millinery, for which his vocabulary could find no polite phrase. A diminutive parasol completed the absurdity.

"Arabella," he exclaimed, in a dazed manner, "we're just going driving, you know! It isn't any masquerade."

"Don't you like it?" she queried in a tone of astonishment.

"Like it!"

"I expected you to say I was pretty," she pouted.

"Arabella, I'm fond of you, but I can't lie. You aren't any prettier than a cross-eyed pelican. Whatever possessed you to do anything like that?"

"It was simply to please you, dear."

"To please me!"

"Yes. It's the way I dressed 20 years ago, when we were married."—Washington Star.

Honolulu, April 21, 1896.

Mr. C. W. MacFarlane—It affords me pleasure to recommend, to any one whose hair is falling out, the use of DR. POTTIE'S HAIR OIL. My hair was coming out at such a rate as led me to believe that I would soon become bald. After using the oil for five weeks this ceased entirely; none whatever is now falling out. I consider it the best and only worthy remedy for this trouble and also recommend it as a stimulant to new growth.
